MEMBER SPOTLIGHT
DARRYLL BRANDWINE, ASSOC. AIA

I am a Member because... I enjoy interacting with like-minded individuals who share a collaborative passion for architecture & design, have similar business goals, relay adversities and promote positive ideas. Too many times architects feel as if they have to "one up each other" and the AIA fosters relationships that design professionals otherwise may not have or look for. Collectively, what we can learn from each other, will ultimately makes us stronger and ensure our survival.

I am a Managing Partner & Design Principal of d3 design studios with my business partner, Alan Heinrich. I head up most design projects for our company. I wear multiple hats as well. When I'm not designing projects, I coordinate office operations and marketing. Originally from Brooklyn, NY, I came to Las Vegas on August 27th, 1996 and have been working in the industry for almost 22 years. Most who know me quickly realize I'm not afraid to speak my mind, I'm fiercely loyal, have a good sense of humor, and willing to go beyond the call of duty whenever needed.

What is the most important thing you've learned? The most important thing I have personally learned (as I suspect many in our industry have who have been around for a while) is how to navigate the economy. Learning to operate and survive in "lean" has taught me valuable lessons that I will take forward in my career. While you can never predict the future, you can learn from the past. If you don't, you're doomed to repeat it.

Where will you be in 20 years? 20 years? Hopefully on a beach! I want to develop real estate. Architecture was and is always captivating to me as my uncle had inspired me to follow this career path. As I became more involved in the field, I caught the development bug. I've been delving into the intimacies of development for the past five years. I'm hoping to parlay the skills I have acquired over my career and couple them with what I have been recently learning about real estate development. I will circle back to my original answer. On a beach. Just felt I had to fill in the what, why and how.

What person, living or dead, would you most like to talk with? My Grandmother, Rose. I miss her dearly. She died when I was twenty-one. I still talk to her. I didn't get a chance to before she died. She winked at me the last time I saw her as she knew she wasn't long for this world. She was always full of energy, strong-willed, and hot-headed at times but had a big heart. Sound familiar? She had a way of explaining things to me that would make everything clear. She was an "old soul" and those kind of people are rare. Miss You Gram. Winking back.

How can architects provide "value add" to their clients? Architects and all professionals in our field, which encompass so many different aspects of business, provide value by what we create on paper which typically enhance the built environment. But, a "value add" to me, has an invaluable trait. A trait that cannot be measured by pen and paper alone. "Communication". I hear it time and time again from so many Clients that I have come into contact with. I've always felt the benchmark to success is COMMUNICATION. In today's world one would think that wouldn't be problem but it's just the opposite as bad communication is still prevalent. A certain value add is to be a great communicator. Make sure your client is appraised of what's happening on a daily basis. This means from the top down. Your entire team has to collaborate and be actively involved to reach the desired outcome/goal. Follow up! Follow up! Follow up! Take nothing for granted. Don't assume anything. It will show your Clients that you truly care about what you are creating for them and sometimes even get you out of a jam!!!

AIA LAS VEGAS PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE JENNIFER TURCHIN, AIA

Happy Spring to all of our AIA Las Vegas members! For those of you who haven't renewed your membership – now is the time! Please let me know if you have any concerns or topics you think that AIA Las Vegas should be addressing.

We had an amazing March membership meeting at Metl-Span's manufacturing facility in North Las Vegas where we not only got a presentation on Insulated Metal Panels but also got a tour to see how they are made AND a hands on demonstration on installing panels – lots of fun was had for all those in attendance. This meeting was a great way to get 2.5 CEUs! There are other opportunities this year to sponsor a meeting like this, so please contact the AIA office if you are interested.

I also want to thank everyone who participated in or contributed to the Bald By Design team raising money for St. Baldrick's Foundation this year. The St. Baldrick's Foundation is a volunteer-powered charity committed to funding the most promising research to find cures for childhood cancers and give survivors long, healthy lives. It may not affect you today, but will impact your life in some way given 1 in 285 U.S. kids will get cancer before they turn 20 – these kids are our future. Our team has raised $109,870 as of this writing, making it one of the best years we've had in the 8 years Bald by Design has been raising money to fund this needed charity. THANK YOU! And it's not too late to get us over the $110,000 mark – donations are still being accepted.

I had the pleasure of attending the AIA Grassroots Conference in San Diego in March. This year's conference theme was "Leading through Influence." It was an inspiring few days highlighting the unique role that architects can play not only in their chapter, firms, and profession at large but also in their communities and the lives of others.

William Bates, FAIA, First Vice President and Grassroots 2018 Conference Chair spoke of change and power. Architects often find themselves in the position of envisioning and contributing to the discussion of change, but tend to shy from elected positions, whether political or even on local boards or forums outside of the specific purview of architecture. There were discussion panels of architects in political and policy making positions demonstrating that an architect's skillset such as the ability to think broadly and create a vision can be applicable to our cities and advantageous to the public and our communities. A key takeaway from the conference was the importance of impacting policy change at a local level and getting involved in an area you are passionate about!

Cities and towns are an easy insertion point for the architecture community because they are at a scale in which we are familiar working. As architects, our clients and buildings make up the people and spaces that shape our cities and towns; they are the very fabric of our community and network of places. Carl Elefante, FAIA, and 2018 AIA President spoke about this being a revolutionary time in architecture. Not only is the economy strong; making the demand for architecture high, but in these times of deep discourse about social issues, immigration, affordable housing, resiliency of our cities, climate change, equity, social media, and 24/7 news cycles, architects are poised to seize this moment of strength in the profession as an institution and remind our communities that our role is pivotal to solving many of these topics. We should be advocating for the power of design and architecture; sharing examples that benefit the public and community with our clients and political representatives alike.

Don't forget! April is Art, Architecture and Design Month in Nevada celebrating our built environment and the architects and design professionals who create our communities. There are events practically every night of the week this month, so please visit the Architecture Month tab under events on our website!

Did you know that AIA Las Vegas is hosting the A19' Conference on Architecture on June 6-9, 2019! 2019!!!

It will be here before we know it.

The A19 Committee is working right now to plan and execute the best national conference since 2005

That's the last time we hosted it.

This time it will be bigger and better.

WE NEED VOLUNTEERS

to help with programs, tours, exhibits, information booth and AIA Las Vegas expo booth.

We need ALL members to join this effort.

AIA Nevada and Bald by Design Book Another Great Year for St. Baldrick's Foundation

Once again, your Las Vegas AIA chapter has come out strong in support of the St. Baldrick's Foundation and in the fight against childhood cancer. I continue to be moved by the character and generosity of our membership, whether someone shaves, cuts a ponytail or donates. As I write this, our team total for this year is now up to a little over $108,000, which brings our 8-year team total to over $700,000! I believe, and I hope you all share this belief, that our team is moving the needle in this fight.

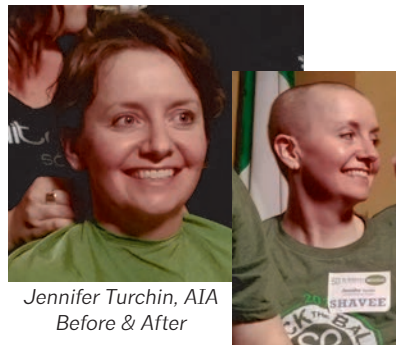

You should be proud of your AIA Chapter. Many on our team now come from the AIA ranks (or other sectors of the design and development community). And many are repeat volunteers. This year we had 36 team members, with 24 of those having shaved before, and 14 of those shaving for 5 or more years. Great track record! So, thanks for your support of this great cause. When you see your fellow members who shaved, please tell them, "Great job!"

Such a great effort by all of our team members. Please remember that it's never too late for someone to donate. I have people ask that frequently. The donation website for 2018 stays up until October, when next year's event opens, just in case you have an "Oh no, I meant to make a donation!" moment!

WANT TO HOST AN AIA MEMBER MEETING IN 2018?

This year the Chapter is offering Architecture For Everyone. And, your firm can host your very own

AIA Member Meeting in 2018. All you have to do is select a month and make it your own. Showcase your company products and services and let the architectural community know that you are a proud partner with the AIA Las Vegas Chapter. The entire meeting is yours – make it whatever you want it to be.

- A Showcase tour of your firm or a project
- Offer a tour of your production facility
- Hold a special exhibit or demonstration
- Bring in a noted speaker or an interesting educational program
- Host a fun networking event

Choose your location or ours here at the Historic Fifth Street School, prepare the content and agenda. The cost for being a host is $2,000 to AIA Las Vegas with the host responsible for catering and other facility expenses when required. AIA Las Vegas will schedule your meeting on our website calendar and promote the event to our members and the whole architectural community. If CE credits are appropriate, AIA will manage the RSVP list and register the course with AIA National and then report the credits on behalf of the members in attendance.

This is your chance to shine....and to share your special knowledge, and plans with the members of the architectural community.

Available months are May, June, and August.

The sooner you reserve your month....the more promotion you receive.

Building Codes Assistance Project

SOLAR ENERGY IN NEVADA – NOW IS THE TIME NEW COURSE DEBUTS IN LAS VEGAS APRIL 25

Consumer demand for solar energy is rising as fast as the price is dropping – and at a record-breaking pace in the past few years. Solar can add value to almost any project because solar panels allow building owners to produce their own free energy.

As key professionals on the design team, architects and engineers are well poised influence a client's wish list to include solar energy on both new and remodeled buildings. Having solar expertise is a lucrative opportunity for designers who want to stay ahead of their competition and lead the market. However most designers don't have experience with solar, don't propose including it, and don't know where to begin.

A new training funded by the U.S. Department of Energy offers to change that. The new Solar for Design Professionals course debuts in Las Vegas on April 25th. The one-day course provides 6.5 AIA LU/HSW continuing education credits to participants.

Created especially for architects and engineers, this course introduces participants to how to incorporate solar photovoltaics (PV) into designs; differentiate themselves in the marketplace by offering solar PV; how to speak with clients about its benefits; and where to find information on financial incentives. This one-time only training was developed by the Building Codes Assistance Project, the Center for Sustainable Energy (CSE) and is co-hosted by AIA Las Vegas.

With an abundance of free energy from the sun available in Nevada, the solar market is strong, due in part to these factors:

- Nevada's Net Metering policy requires NV Energy to credit solar system owners for the electricity they put back into the grid – reducing electric bills.
- The state of Nevada's Renewable Portfolio Standard (RPS) requires electric utilities to utilize 25% renewable energy by the year 2025. Therefore, utility companies offer incentives to solar system owners, who can earn hundreds or thousands of dollars each year (depending on their system size).
- The Federal Investment Tax Credit (ITC) allows residential and commercial solar energy system owners to recoup a significant part of the upfront cost by reducing their federal tax bill by 30 percent of the system cost.

EPIYAF NEWS
TRAVIS ALLEN, ASSOC. AIA
 EPIYAF DIRECTOR

PROJECT OPPORTUNITY:

As you might be aware, after the shooting last October the community built a makeshift park and memorial wall in an empty lot downtown, now known as the Healing Garden. The City of Las Vegas has since gifted the property to Get Outdoors Nevada, a 501c foundation to manage the garden and see it through a transformation to a more permanent memorial.

The EPIYAF has a unique opportunity to partner with the Nevada Contractors Association's Construction Leadership Council (their equivalent young professionals group) to help create a more resilient memorial wall as part of the overall project. We have been asked to collaborate on a final design, create renderings, and then permit drawings – working in partnership with the NCA to support fundraising efforts, cost estimates and final construction of the memorial. This is a great opportunity to collaborate with like-minded professionals on a meaningful real-world project, and we need volunteers to make it happen. Contact me if you are interested!

Also – many thanks to the AIAS chapter at UNLV, specifically Destanee Cook and Win Khine Mon, for their help in kicking off the inaugural AIA Las Vegas Design Film Series last month. This newly established program of architecture and design related films aims to showcase the more personal side of design, while providing an alternate method of discussing its effect on the people who use our buildings. Stay tuned for the next event in this ongoing series!

And if you are not already aware, the EPIYAF is leading the charge again this year for the 2018 CANstruction exhibition – to be held at the Mandalay Bay as part of Art, Architecture & Design month in April. All professionals, members and community members are welcomed to the opening reception on April 23 – see the flyer in this newsletter for more info!

As always, if you are interested in helping out with the planning and promoting of these events, have some ideas of your own, or would like to be part of the Emerging Professionals committee in any way – please email me: tallen@csdarchitecture.com

COTE CLOSET
ESTHER GARCIA, ASSOC. AIA
CHAIR, COTE COMMITTEE

OUTDOOR GARDEN CLASSROOM PARTNERSHIP

February was a fun month for the COTE Committee and the Gensler team, who sponsored the Bonner Elementary School.

Our measuring exercise coincided with the kids introduction to new units of measurements in school, so they had a lot of fun implementing on the field everything they learned in class.

They were especially inquisitive about buildings and structures from our city during the design charrette, and took very educated guesses on whimsical examples of building types. It was a great group, knowledgeable about plants types and how they could have them flourish in our desert environment. The kids had a blast, and showed great interest in becoming the next generation of design professionals.

The AIA Las Vegas COTE Committee thanks Gensler for being the first firm to take on a school sponsorship, and hopes that many more firms will follow.

Our Committee believes in the positive impact this program is having. As such, we've invested countless hours on it, and we need your help. We are looking for Architecture, Landscape Architecture, Interior Design, and Engineering firms to jump in and partner with schools.

Firm Partnership consists of:

- Providing a minimum of 4 people to attend the two events for your partner school.
- Preparing and providing printouts of an aerial for the site analysis and measuring exercise.
- Preparing and providing printouts of the base plans for the design charrette.
- Composing a final design based on the particular needs of the school

Upcoming Green Our Planet Events:

Tony Alamo Elementary School Measuring Exercise - April 13th
Tony Alamo Elementary School Design Charrette - April 27th

Support your AIA chapter and community!

Join AIA Las Vegas COTE in this rewarding task!

Please email Anna Peltier at anna@arialandscape.com for more information on the upcoming Outdoor Garden Classroom Partnership events, and/or e-mail Esther Garcia at esther_garcia@gensler.com if you are interested in joining our committee.

CSI TO HOST THE 2018 SOUTHWEST REGION EDUCATION DAY IN APRIL

The CSI Las Vegas Chapter is excited to host the 2018 Southwest Region Education Day on April 20, 2018 at the South Point Hotel and Casino. This year's theme, "Double Down on Education" emphasizes our commitment to providing valuable education sessions ensuring maximum return for your investment.

Who We Are: The Construction Specifications Institute (CSI) is a national association dedicated to improving the communication of construction information. The Region Education conference is the annual conference of the CSI Southwest Region, which includes: Albuquerque, Denver, Las Vegas Phoenix, Pikes Peak, Salt Lake City and Tucson.

Why Attend: The construction industry needs more communication and higher quality construction documents. The conference will feature carefully selected sessions and workshops designed to unite all members of the industry to inspire dialogue and exchange knowledge. Topics will provide practical, timely information that can be used immediately in your workplace.

Presenters are industry leaders in construction documents, building codes, and product representation and are committed to improving the construction industry through education. Tracks will target licensed Architects, Emerging Professionals and students. Most of the sessions provide AIA LU's and The "Let's Fix Construction" workshop in the afternoon is garnering nationwide recognition as an exciting, collaborative event and provides 2 HSW LU's!

JOIN THE COUNCIL OF EXCELLENCE

AIA Members and School of Architecture Alumni have a real opportunity to be actively involved in guiding the future of the UNLV School of Architecture and the profession. JOIN the COUNCIL of EXCELLENCE! In 2017 the AIA Las Vegas Board of Directors established the AIA LV School of Architecture Committee to serve as a liaison between practicing professionals and the UNLV School of Architecture.

The Committee has reinstated the School of Architecture Council of Excellence, and is asking you to consider becoming a Council of Excellence Member. Individual annual memberships start at $1,000.00 and Firm memberships start at $5,000.00 per year.

Your commitment will allow the School of Architecture to provide:

- Seed money for new initiatives
- Technology advancements for classrooms and purchase of new equipment
- Student scholarships for tuition and travel
- Funds for marketing the School of Architecture
- Resources for recruitment of students and faculty
- Support for Architectural publications

We hope you will join the Council of Excellence by making a donation to support the School, its programs, students and faculty through your membership. Your advocacy, advice and participation are vital to the growth of the UNLV School of Architecture program.

To join the Council of Excellence please make checks payable to the UNLV Foundation and mail to AIA Las Vegas, 401 S. 4th St., Ste: 175, Las Vegas, NV. 89101 Attn: Randy Lavigne, Hon. AIA or contact Tom Schoeman at thomasjschoeman@gmail.com.

SENIOR DESIGNER SENIOR DRAFTER SENIOR PROJECT MANAGER

Senior DESIGNER

Your work today would consist of mostly conceptual through schematic design for large scale multi-family residential, retail and mixed-use projects. We also have a number of production and very high-end custom homes, a synagogue, boutique hotels, and other interesting projects. However, projects are always changing so versatility is important. You would be teamed with a Project Manager and ideally you would work directly with Clients, Zoning Attorneys and governmental agencies. We are looking for a Designer that understands our Client's needs and arrives at realistic solutions as quickly as possible. You will have graphic assistance but ideally you will create and present your own work in a professional manner. Our office is informal, downtown, and a pleasant place to work. Our current staff are all very nice and we're looking for someone equally nice to fit in. Salary is commensurate with experience. Candidates must meet the following criteria:

- Minimum 10 years of professional experience in Residential and/or Retail Design
- Office, Hospitality and Healthcare experience is a plus
- Portfolio should show highly creative, cutting edge design.
- Hand and/or Computer Perspective Rendering is a plus
- Proficiency in AutoCAD, SketchUp, REVIT and/or Adobe is a plus
- Excellent graphic and presentation skills required
- Excellent communication skills preferred
- Well organized, good team member

Please forward resume and portfolio to hp@perlmanarchitects.com and include "Design Position" in the subject line.

Senior Drafter

Your work today would consist of mostly DD's and CD's on large scale multi-family residential, retail and mixed-use projects. We also have a number of single family homes, a synagogue, boutique hotels, and other interesting projects. However, projects are always changing so versatility is important. You would be expected to handle smaller scale projects on your own with minimal supervision. On larger projects you would be teamed with a Designer and Project Manager. You would work directly with Clients, Engineers, Contractors and governmental agencies and would be helping with CA. We are looking for happy, positive people that work quickly, accurately, are "into their work" and are pleasurable to work with. Our office is informal, downtown, and a pleasant place to work. Salary is commensurate with experience.

Candidates must meet the following criteria:

- Minimum five years of recent professional experience in Residential and/or Retail projects
- Healthcare, Hospitality and Commercial experience is a plus
- Detail oriented and able to produce an accurate and complete set of documents
- Excellent interpersonal verbal, writing and graphic communication skills
- Well organized, good team worker
- Must be proficient in either REVIT or AutoCadd. (You will be given a test.)
- Proficiency in SketchUp and/or Adobe Creative Suite is a plus.

We are an established, award winning firm and we are looking for people to stay with us and grow professionally. Please forward resume and portfolio to hp@perlmanarchitects.com and include "Drafting Position" in the subject line.

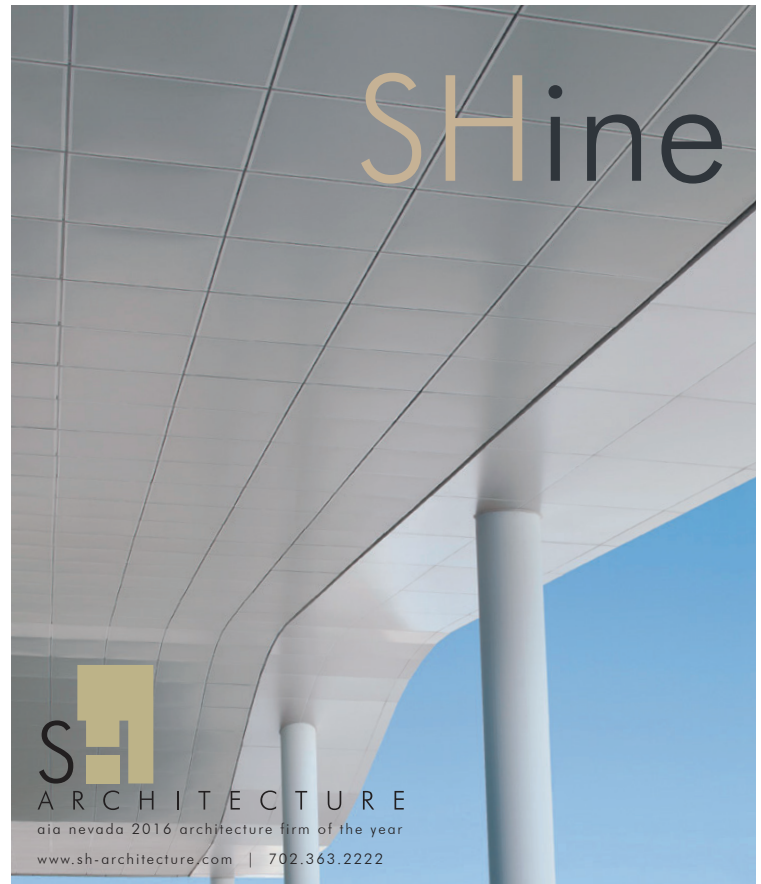

Senior Project Manager

Your work today would consist of mostly high density multi-family residential, retail and mixed-use projects. We also have a number of production and high-end custom homes, a synagogue, high rise boutique hotels, and other interesting projects. However, projects are always changing so versatility is important. You would work directly with Clients, Zoning Attorneys, Contractors and governmental agencies. You would be in charge of your projects from Design through CA. You would also be responsible for schedules, contracts and billings for your projects. We are looking for a PM that understands our Client's goals and helps him/her achieve them. If it's your preference you may work independently on your own projects with minimal assistance, or you may lead a team of Designers and Drafters. Our office is informal, downtown, and a pleasant place to work. Our current staff are all very nice and we're looking for someone equally nice to fit in. Salary is commensurate with experience.

Candidates must meet the following criteria:

- Min 10 years of professional experience in Residential and/or Retail projects
- Office, Hospitality and Healthcare experience is a plus
- Must have excellent interpersonal verbal and writing skills
- Must be able to lead and coordinate all design team members, consultants, contractors and building officials.
- Must be able to produce award winning projects on time, and on budget
- Must be well organized and detail oriented.
- Proficiency in AutoCADD and/or REVIT is a must
- Architectural License is a plus

Please forward resume and portfolio to hp@perlmanarchitects.com and include "PM Position" in the subject line.
